June Opening

Disappointingly, we are still not able to give a definitive opening date. Delays are inevitable in a project of this size, and currently we are hoping to be open mid June.

We will update the website, and the answering service on the telephone number whenever we have any news. We will also let you know when we are up and running to answer calls and take future bookings. Currently we hope to do this early June. But do check the website too.

When we open we will be offering the following new ideas, as well as the old favourites.
